Philly SOS is a groundbreaking website for locating community resources in Philadelphia. The information has been gathered from a variety of sources and directories that provide users with detailed and comprehensive listings. The website has been created to assist parents and foster parents, social workers, case managers, concerned citizens and community residents.

Philly SOS acts as a lifeline to social services by providing up-to-date information on thousands of programs in an easy to use format. Users can search by agency name, keyword and ZIP code, among other possibilities, to identify the best match for their needs.

Visit your lifeline to social services in Philadelphia on the web at www.phillysos.org.

Philadelphia Safe and Sound
After School and Child Care Program Finder

The Philadelphia Safe and Sound After School Program Finder is a comprehensive, up-to-date website of programs for children and youth in the city of Philadelphia. Parents, caregivers, providers and others have the ability to search by street address or school name to find the best program for their child. Philadelphia Safe and Sound created the After School and Child Care Program Finder to offer an easy way to gather information about programs available in their area. The After School and Child Care Program Finder highlights the different aspects of after school programs and informs parents about specific features of each program, from ages served, languages used to available activities.

Visit www.philasafesound.org/ to find after school and child care programs in your neighborhood.

If you don’t have access to the internet, call PSS’s Parent Assistant Line at 215-568-0737.

Internet access is available at every Free Library of Philadelphia branch.
The end of the school year in Philadelphia does not mean an end to fun and educational activities in safe and structured environments.

The City of Philadelphia is proud to present a directory of summer camps, programs and other activities for children of all ages, in every Philadelphia neighborhood.

From overnight camps in the Pocono Mountains, to softball camps in the Northeast, summer fun and learning for Philadelphia’s youth are just around the corner.

Divided by ZIP code and section of the city, this easy-to-use directory contains something for everyone, so read through the pages and engage your family in some Philadelphia fun this summer.

Inclusion of a program in this directory does not constitute an endorsement by the City of Philadelphia or any of its agencies. Agencies, parents, and guardians are encouraged to contact the programs individually to gauge whether or not they will meet a particular child’s needs.

Special thanks to former Managing Director, Philip R. Goldsmith, for his support on this project.
The City of Philadelphia and the Department of Human Services do not discriminate, or permit discrimination against people because of race, color, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity, religion, national origin, ancestry, physical handicap or marital status.

Camp William Penn

Camp William Penn, managed by the Philadelphia Department of Recreation, has been in operation for the past 53 years. Located approximately 100 miles from Philadelphia in the heart of the Pocono Mountains, the camp is situated in a secluded 670-acre forest and features two private lakes.

Camp William Penn is open to children between the ages of 7 and 12. The camp is not recommended for children with physical disabilities. Also, Camp William Penn has a limited number of openings for non-Philadelphia youth.

Camp William Penn offers one four-night encampment and four five-night encampments. Camp availability is on a first come, first serve basis.

All encampments begin on Monday afternoon and end on Saturday morning. The only exception is the first encampment, which is five days long and begins on a Tuesday.

- First encampment: July 5 – July 9
- Second encampment: July 11 – July 16
- Third encampment: July 18 – July 23
- Fourth encampment: July 25 – 30
- Fifth encampment: August 1 – August 6

The tuition for a 4-night encampment is $60, and a 5-night encampment is $70.

The fee includes all meals and transportation to and from the camp.

Germantown & Stenton Ave., Philadelphia, PA 19118

Phone: (267) 303-0070

Website: www.albustanseeds.org

Dates: July 3, 2006 to July 28, 2006

Times: 9:00 AM to 4:00 PM

Description: At AL-BUSTAN CAMP, children develop new language skills and appreciate Arabic culture while making new friends and exploring the wonders of a natural environment. Open to children and youth of various religious and ethnic backgrounds, "Al-Bustan," Arabic for "The Garden," encourages dialogue, tolerance and a celebration of diversity. Children do not need to know Arabic to participate, but must be interested in learning the language. Each year a different theme integrates the various program areas. A team of teachers -- specialists in their respective fields of language instruction, nature, art and architecture, storytelling and drama, and music and dance of the Arab world -- create a fun, thematically integrated experience. Counselors begin video instruction before the start of camp and work in groups to produce a video to screen at end of camp.

Times: 8:30 PM to 1:00 PM
Description: Provides swimming. The camp offers participants two options: instructional and competitive. The instructional option provides children with the opportunity to learn how to swim. This option focuses on introducing the campers to the basics of swimming, from overcoming fear of the water to learning the proper basic swim techniques. The competitive option is designed for participants who already have some swimming skill. Training in this option focuses the kids on developing all four competitive swim strokes (freestyle, backstroke, breaststroke and butterfly). Campers also work on starts and turns and physical conditioning. All campers receive instruction in basic boating and water safety. Campers from all six sites participate in a swim meet, testing their skills against other swimmers from throughout the city. Campers also attend one trip each week of the camp season. Breakfast and lunch are provided for all campers. Transportation is not provided.

Dates: June 26, 2006 to August 3, 2006
Times: 8:30 AM to 1:00 PM
Description: Provides swimming. The camp offers participants two options: instructional and competitive. The instructional option provides children with the opportunity to learn how to swim. This option focuses on introducing the campers to the basics of swimming, from overcoming fear of the water to learning the proper basic swim techniques. The competitive option is designed for participants who already have some swimming skill. Training in this option focuses the kids on developing all four competitive swim strokes (freestyle, backstroke, breaststroke and butterfly). Campers also work on starts and turns and physical conditioning. All campers receive instruction in basic boating and water safety. Campers from all six sites participate in a swim meet, testing their skills against other swimmers from throughout the city. Campers also attend one trip each week of the camp season. Breakfast and lunch are provided for all campers. Transportation is not provided.
Eligibility: Ages 9 to 15
Fee: $130 per Entire Program

Swim for Life
Rowland Avenue & Shelmire Streets,
Philadelphia, PA 19136
Phone: (215) 685-8751
Website: www.phila.gov/recreation
Dates: June 26, 2006 to August 3, 2006
Times: 8:30 AM to 1:00 PM
Description: Provides swimming. The camp offers participants two options: instructional and competitive. The instructional option provides children with the opportunity to learn how to swim. This option focuses on introducing the campers to the basics of swimming, from overcoming fear of the water to learning the proper basic swim techniques. The competitive option is designed for participants who already have some swimming skill. Training in this option focuses the kids on developing all four competitive swim strokes (freestyle, backstroke, breaststroke and butterfly). Campers also work on starts and turns and physical conditioning. All campers receive instruction in basic boating and water safety. Campers from all six sites participate in a swim meet, testing their skills against other swimmers from throughout the city. Campers also attend one trip each week of the camp season, excluding first Friday of the program. Breakfast and lunch are provided for all campers. Transportation is not provided.
Eligibility: Ages 9 to 15
Fee: $130 per Entire Program

Website: www.phila.gov/recreation/
Dates: June 26, 2006 to August 3, 2006
Description: The camp offers participants two options: instructional and competitive swimming. The instructional option provides children with the opportunity to learn how to swim. This option focuses on introducing the campers to the basics of swimming, from overcoming fear of the water to learning the proper basic swim techniques. The competitive option is designed for participants who already have some swimming skill. Training in this option focuses the kids on developing all four competitive swim strokes (freestyle, backstroke, breaststroke and butterfly). Campers also work on starts and turns and physical conditioning. All campers receive instruction in basic boating and water safety. Campers from all six sites participate in a swim meet, testing their skills against other swimmers from throughout the city. Campers also attend one trip each week of the camp season. Breakfast and lunch are provided for all campers. Transportation is not provided.
